

Pikes Peak Climate Education

Invites You to an Evening with

Jon Waterman

Author, Photographer, Outdoorsman & Naturalist

Jon Waterman, author of Into the Thaw – Witnessing Wonder Amid the Arctic Climate Crisis, will share powerful stories and photography from decades of travel in the Canadian and Alaskan Arctic. His firsthand observations reveal the profound changes unfolding in the Arctic – and why they matter here in Colorado, where worsening wildfires and air quality impacts are increasingly connected to climate shifts far to our north.

An Evening with Jon Waterman

Colorado College – Armstrong Hall

Tuesday, March 24th

Doors open: 6:30pm

Program begins: 7:00pm

8:00pm: Light refreshments & Conversation

Whether you are engaged in climate work or simply love Colorado's outdoors and care about protecting our forests, rangelands, wildlife, and clean air for future generations – this evening is for you. We'll have a presentation, Q&A, and time for refreshments and networking after the event.

Students, outdoor enthusiasts, conservation advocates, and civic leaders are encouraged to attend.

Thank You to our Keystone Sponsors!

- Citizens' Climate Education
- 350 Colorado
- Colorado College
- Colorado Climate Advocates LLC

Questions or Sponsorship Information:
John Schoch – coclimadvocate@yahoo.com

Scan the QR Code or visit
www.pikespeakclimate.org to register!

About Pikes Peak Climate Education: Pikes Peak Climate Education is a nonpartisan grassroots initiative that engages and shares information with people in our community and across Colorado on an array of topics related to climate. Stay tuned for future Climate Conversation events!